These pixels are also called raster images. If you cut, paste or duplicate pixels, you change the pixel-based image. Photoshop is a component of the Adobe Creative Suite, which is comprised of Photoshop, Illustrator and InDesign. You'll learn how to use the Adobe Suite in a later chapter. There are different types of image files: raster images, vector images, GIFs, JPEGs and others. A raster image can be in various dimensions from 1 x 1 to 1,600 x 1,600 pixels, while the other formats are in various formats based on their resolution. If you're interested in learning how to create your own Photoshop composites, you should familiarize yourself with vector images and their benefits. Photoshop is a program that enables you to create and edit raster images. The program has layers that enable you to create multiple images and manipulate them at the same time. What's New in the Adobe Photoshop CS6?

Q: Elasticsearch - Restify API Is it possible to use Elasticsearch with Restify, rather than the WTF for persistence? I have used this for other things such as with a SQL database. Wondering if it is appropriate for this particular use. A: Yes you can use any MongoDB driver with Restify. There is no connection to the Elasticsearch server in the implementation but the underlying logic is similar to the WTF driver (which supports PouchDb also). Q: JHipster v4.1.2 How to disable a component on app startup I am creating a simple web application using JHipster. I have some database-related components, such as the database access service, entity manager and so on, which are not relevant for the web application that I am building, but they come out of the JHipster template. If I generate a sample app with the application only, I can easily get rid of the database-related components by providing as a JHipsterAnnotations parameter the entityManager (and the other services) with a value of null. Is there something similar to that, for instance, disabling the API Endpoints Service? A: In JHipster v4.1.2, Disabling a Service is configured by creating the corresponding files in src/main/resources/META-INF/jhipster.service_additions.yml and/or src/main/resources/META-INF/jhipster.service_routes.yml. This is described in detail in the documentation: Unfortunately, disabling an endpoint is currently not supported directly in a JHipster generated application. Q: How to find the sum of an infinite series using Riemann's integral and the Euler-Mascheroni constant? I'm thinking about the sum $\sum_{n=1}^{\infty} \frac{(-1)^{n-1}}{n^2}$ But it is divergent so I try to use Riemann's integral. I see that $\frac{(-1)^{n-1}}{n^2} \rightarrow$
