I have a question about how to convert Rich Text to data format in vba. I am saving a Rich Text format in excel and when I save it and open it again I need to have the data format. So if I change it to data format I can change text into numbers, dates, etc. A: Rich Text Formatting is stored in RTF format. The following sample illustrates how to get RTF data from an Open XML Workbook document and output the data (as plain text) to an Excel worksheet. Note that the RTF data is probably corrupted for some characters.

Also, since I don't have my old Word version I can't check whether the demo sample is accurate; however, since RTF is text, you should be able to spot the differences. Option Explicit
